Nacel Australia Pty Ltd ACN 140 608 653 (Nacel) chaperones (Chaperone/Chaperones) facilitate international trips for students and act as a support person. The chaperone's input is essential in the problem solving process, however the Nacel representative in the host country will take responsibility for final decisions including probationary status, medical attention and/or repatriation.
- Be available for the students and host families at all times. Limited travel plans are permitted within your region however, such plans must be agreed upon in advance with the Nacel representative and/or Nacel Australasia. It is also necessary to be flexible in such cases where personal plans may need to be altered/cancelled because of unforeseen events with the students.
- Accompany students on their domestic transfer from the host family to the airport for the return international flight to Australia. Chaperones international flights will be booked by Nacel Australasia to provide needed supervision to the students. This may mean that chaperones have longer stopovers or fly indirect routes to their own home destinations. ie. Adelaide via Perth.

6. Chaperone Accommodation

- Host families invite chaperones to stay with them, without any compensation other than the hope that the experience will be mutually rewarding.
- Chaperones should also consider themselves part of the family, sharing in family activities and responsibilities and not treating the home as a base from which to come and go for tours.
- The families we invite to host are all voluntary and are very excited to have an Australian live and interact with them. This sharing of cultural differences and understanding is core to Nacel Australasia programs.
- Chaperones will be asked to complete additional information about their interests, hobbies and relevant medical history. This information is sent to Nacel in order to find a host family. This process can take time as host families apply approximately 2-3 months prior to the groups arrival whereas the chaperones and students have been preparing for much longer.
- The host family provides the use of their home phone for contacting students.
- Nacel in the host country reimburses the host family for the cost of calls related to the chaperone's duties and responsibilities and personal mobile with Nacel Australasia SIM card.
- Chaperones may also choose to arrange their own accommodation, at their own expense. If you arrange your own accommodation it will need to be in the same region as the students are hosted.
